

Scope of Work:

Often, the process of building a custom, single-family home can be a challenge to an owner that possesses a limited knowledge of construction and seeks the assurance that their home is built well and within budget.

With 35 years of construction experience, HAG is able to act as a neutral third-party consultant to homeowners for their properties, including those listed below. We offer unbiased Construction Administration services, with the simple application of industry standards and "best practices" to assist design architects and construction contractors to avoid conflict. We recommend that we provide early design-phase feedback on technical building products & systems, but can provide reviews of construction documents & construction-phase submittals; perform construction observation; review benchmark pay requests; prepare field observation reports and author project close-out punch lists.

Private Residence, Chicago, IL

Private Residence, Chicago, IL

Private Residence, Glencoe, IL

Private Residence, Chicago, IL